SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Members:

I was disappointed that I missed my first meeting as your President, but the Mezey's of New York were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, so the Mezey clan of South Florida flew up to join the family. Thank you Sally for running the meeting; I'm sure everything went very smoothly.

Did you notice some new faces doing the raffle last month? Thank you Leigh Elliott, Carlos San Martin, and Ralph Hernandez for stepping up to help out. A very big thanks goes to Mike and Sheila O'Dea for their 4 years manning the raffle table and doing a wonderful job!!

I'm sure you enjoyed Carlos Cahiz's talk on orchid growing supplies. It's so helpful to know what to use and when. And there is no better way than an actual demonstration.

Have you purchased your tickets for Speaker's Day, October 4th, yet? You can purchase them at the South Florida office, or see Ellen at the meeting. I hope many members will attend because we have a great day with interesting speakers orchids for purchase, and of course, a great lunch! It's amazing that it is right around the corner.

I hope you are as excited about our November auction as I am. As was announced at the meeting, we will be auctioning off gifts that can be used during the holidays. We already have restaurants, a facial, objects d'arts as well as beautiful orchids. Please make sure you bring your friends along so they can purchase gifts on their holiday list too! And don't forget our holiday party in December.

Have you been able to stay dry with all this rain? I believe the adage which states "a rainy May keeps the Hurricanes away." So my motto is "Let it rain!" Make sure your orchids are well covered with fungicide to prevent rot, and let us all keep our fingers crossed!

Until our next meeting.....good growing

Judy

Several of our speakers will have plants to sell and sales will be open only to registered seminar participants.

This year's speakers are:

Bob Burkey – owns Kamuela Greenhouse/Specialty Orchids along with his wife where they raise Odontoglossums, Oncidiinae Intergenerics, Cymbidiums, and Paphiopedilums. For the past four years Bob has also been the Director of the Hawaii Biotech Tissue Culture Center. He is an accredited Cymbidium Society Judge and an accredited American Orchid Society Judge. He has written many articles on growing orchids and judging, and has lectured on the subjects throughout the U.S., New Zealand, Japan, and the U.K. He is currently the Vice President of the Odontoglossum Alliance. Bob will speak on talk on “Judging Oncidiinae/ Odont Intergeneric Hybrids” and will have plants to sell.

Jason Fischer – Jason has had a life-long education in orchids mainly from the opportunity to be raised in a family orchid business. Jason Fischer works at and helps manage Orchids Limited in Plymouth, Minnesota with his father Jerry Fischer. Their operation consists of four greenhouses with 15,000 square feet of growing space, a shade house, and laboratory. He took interest in orchid hybridization and lab work around 14 years of age, and first started breeding with Phalaenopsis, which later on lead to Paphs, Pphrags and miscellaneous hybrids. Jason's first lecture on Neofinetia Falcata at the Minnesota Orchid Society in 2004 was the kick-off for an amazing journey of lectures across America including the WOC in Miami in 2008. Jason will speak on “The Phragmipedium Craze” which will cover breeding and growing techniques. Jason will also have plants to sell.

Norito Hasegawa - is the owner of Paphanatics, unLimited. He has been a judge in both the American Orchid Society and the Cymbidium Society of America for over 35 years. He is primarily a hybridizer of Slipper Orchids (Paphiopedilum) although his interests and collection of 15,000 orchids include Miniature Cattleyas, Phalaenopsis, Cymbidiums and variegated orchids of all sorts. Norito is a 3 million miler travelling to many foreign countries talking and/or judging in places such as Japan, South Africa, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Germany, New Zealand, Taiwan, England, France, Switzerland and many cities in the USA. Norito will speak on Paph. Species and How They Influence Their Hybrids. Norito will also have plants to sell.

Tom Mirenda - trained as a Marine Biologist, and has been an orchid addict since his childhood. Tom is presently the Orchid Collection Specialist at the Smithsonian Institution where he cares for a huge collection of orchid species and hybrids, and produces a four month long orchid exhibit each year and supplies information about orchid cultivation, ecology and conservations to the public year round. His mission in life is trying to bring the horticultural, scientific and conservation communities closer together. He has been writing two popular monthly columns in Orchids magazine ‘The Orchid Checklist’ and the ‘Genus of the Month’ for the last four years. Tom will speak on “Judging and Breeding of Miniature Art Shade Cattleyas”.

Marguerite Webb - Marguerite Webb began her orchid growing career in the mid-1970's when she took a job at J&L Orchids in Easton, CT. In 1979 she and her two partners Cordelia Head and Lucinda Winn purchased J&L, a small nursery that specializes in unusual species and miniature orchids. Marguerite has become an authority on certain New World genera such as Masdevallia, writing and lecturing about them and other aspects of orchid growing. She has traveled to places like South Africa, New Zealand and Japan to speak at orchid conferences and seminars, as well as lecturing at many World Orchid Conferences including Miami in 2008. She is a frequent contributor to orchid publications such as The Orchid Digest and Orchids. Marguerite will lecture on “Warm Growing Pleurothallidinae” and will be bringing plants to sell.

RAISING BOTANICAL LITERACY ... WITH ORCHIDS

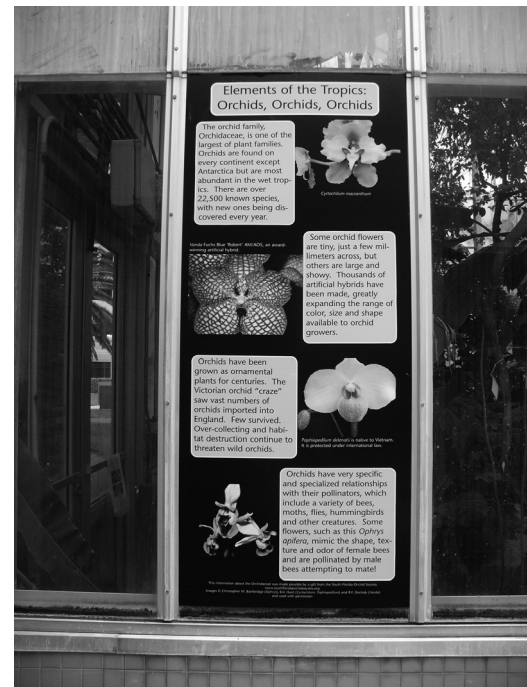

Since 1993, Florida International University has been home to the Wertheim Conservatory, a 2900 sq. ft. glasshouse on the north side of the campus, just off SW 8 St. The Conservatory is a showcase of tropical rain forest plants from around the world with an emphasis on species that cannot ordinarily be grown in Miami's climate. It is used for display, teaching, and as a venue for informal gatherings. Since February 2008, it has been under the direction of Dr. Scott Zona, who is bringing the Conservatory back to life and finding innovative ways to use the Conservatory to "raise botanical literacy" on campus. The South Florida Orchid Society recently joined him in that effort.

Along a heavily traveled walkway between the Conservatory and the adjacent lecture hall, Scott envisioned window "clings" – colorful printed posters, similar to the advertising used on city buses – to bring awareness to "Elements of the Tropics," those plants that are especially emblematic of the tropics. Orchids are quintessentially tropical, so naturally, he wanted to make an educational "cling" about orchids. He approached the SFOS to underwrite the project, and the finished "cling" is now on display on one of the panes of the Conservatory.

"I could have done ten 'clings' about orchids, so I really had to focus and refine the message," said Scott. The poster is 53.5 inches tall and 22 inches wide. The text describes the size and geographic distribution of the family, the effort hybridizers have made in expanding the range of cultivated forms, conservation issues, and the intricate relationships orchids have with their pollinators. The photos used with permission were supplied by Christopher M. Bainbridge, Eric Hunt (orchidphotos.com), and R.F. Orchids. The "cling" carries an acknowledgement of the support of the SFOS and the address of the SFOS website.

"The walkway has been pretty quiet during the summer break, although I've already heard lots of positive comments from the faculty," said Scott. "The fall semester classes begin on August 24th, so soon hundreds of students will be exposed to these clings."

The high-traffic walkway, where students often wait for lectures in the adjacent building, was dull and uninteresting. Now, the area is a venue for learning and appreciating the diversity and value of tropical plants, a venue where orchids hold pride of place.

The orchid "cling" is one of four clings currently on display (a fifth, accidentally damaged, is being reprinted). Additional "clings" will be installed as funds permit. The "clings" can be viewed at any time, but the Conservatory is open to the public Tuesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Admission is free. During weekdays, visitors must pay to park on campus.

Stay tuned for information about a future SFOS project to increase the Wertheim Conservatory's orchid collection!

SFOS GOING GREEN

The South Florida Orchid Society is trying to go as green as possible by sending out the newsletter via email. Many of our members use email everyday and would not mind receiving their newsletter via email. If you are one of them please send us an email at (sforchid@bellsouth.net) telling us you want to receive your monthly newsletter via email. We will take you off the snail mail list and add you to our email list. For those members that prefer to have the newsletter mailed to you by "US mail" we will be happy to do that for you. Remember the less paper we can use the more trees we can save and the less SFOS has to pay for printing and postage.

HOW DO I FEED MY ORCHID?

Experienced orchid growers fertilize their orchids weakly, weekly.

Orchids need to be fed regularly. Growers suggest using a "balanced" fertilizer such as 20-20-20 that includes all "necessary trace elements."

Regardless of the fertilizer formulation you choose to use, it should contain little or no urea. If you are unsure of what fertilizer to use, you can generally use any fertilizer you would for your other container plants. Orchids will do far better with too little fertilizer than with too much. Many growers recommend the "weakly, weekly" approach, applying a dilute (1/4 strength) fertilizer each time they water, rather than applying a full dose once a month. Also, it is best not to fertilize a completely dry plant as the fertilizer can burn the dry roots. Water first then follow with fertilizer solution.

GETTING ORCHIDS READY FOR FALL/WINTER

by Liese

Even though it's early September, fall seems to be in the air. The days are slowly getting shorter, the nights cooler, and some trees are even beginning to lose their leaves. The kids are back in school and our summer "routines" must change.

Most of us are creatures of habit. Watering our plants every Saturday morning and fertilizing once-a-month, whatever it may be. What one must remember is that as the seasons change, the climate conditions change, thus, the care of your orchids must also change.

Fall brings shorter days, cooler nights, and lower light intensities. These conditions are necessary to push many orchids into spike. However, the care we give them must change slightly to accommodate the new season. During the fall and winter months, the plant growth of orchids slows down and, in some cases, stops entirely until spring. Because of this, we usually cut back of our watering and fertilizing. It is good to switch foods to a blossom booster formula during the fall and winter. Blossom booster cuts back on the nitrogen and pumps up the phosphate, a combination that encourages blooming. With the lower light during these months the orchids simply do not use up as much food, so make sure to reduce your fertilizing frequency and/or switch to a blossom booster.

The plants also do not use up as much water during the fall/winter months. You will want to water your plants thoroughly as usual. However, due to the darker, cooler days, it may take longer for your plants to dry out. The best thing to do is to evaluate and change your orchid care as the seasons change. Be aware of the plant growth and moisture content. Don't get caught up in too much of a "routine" of caring for your orchids. Learn to study the plant and decide on it's specific needs for that week, month and season.

WATCH FOR FUNGAL INFECTIONS

by AOS

Fungus infections are especially prevalent during the hot and humid months, especially on thin leafed orchids. If you notice spotting on the leaves of your plants, spray with a good fungicide such as Physan or Consan to keep the problem from getting worse. Be sure to spray both the bottom and the top of leaves for best results. Increase your air circulation around that specific plant if possible since poor air circulation is one of the causes of fungal infections.

WATCH FOR NEW GROWTH AND STAKE INFLORESCENCES

by AOS

Stake new inflorescences on most of the summer growing orchids such as Epidendrum, Dendrobium, Brassavola, Oncidiums and Phrags. It is a good idea to put in the stake as soon as you notice the inflorescence so that you can keep track of where it is and stake when the growth has reached about 4 inches. Be careful not to pinch the inflorescence because all the growth and flower development is nourished through the stem.

GROWING THE BEST

Share the magic and joy of growing orchids with a gift of the AOS 2010 Calendar. The 12 superbly grown orchids pictured show the diversity in color, size, shape and fragrance found in the orchid family.
